

About Us

Now every industry must utilize new technology and methods to insure their business's success.

Access Direct Systems is a full service lettershop supplier. We have built our business based on a culture of quality and relationships. Many of our clients have been doing business with Access for over 30 years. During this time, we have been able to support all of their technology and growth requirements. We operate out of 4 facilities, totaling 300,000 s.f., located within a 2-mile radius on Long Island.

As one of the largest direct mail and marketing service companies in the country, Access Direct Systems, Inc., is responsible for sending over 1 billion pieces of mail annually. We service various industries, which include financial organizations, publishers, advertising agencies, fundraisers, retailers, membership organizations, utilities and communication companies.

Access CRM was formed to introduce emerging internet technologies and capabilities to its clients. With our management team experienced in marketing solutions and technology, we have created resources that support interactive customer relationship marketing. Only through continual profiling of clients' customers, using cost-effective interactive methods, can timely communications that truly satisfy a customer exist.

Marketing solutions achieve their best results when one company can deliver resources, data and communications for its clients.
